Client Acceptance

1. Client agrees to read the book "How to Speak Dog" by Stanley Coren.
2. Client understands that finding a suitable therapy dog can take between 2 weeks and 4 months or more.
3. Client agrees to let Company review suitable dogs and choose a suitable therapy dog for you with your input and approval.
4. Client agrees not to contact or visit any rescues or shelters looking for suitable animals during the complete Companion Paws process unless advised by Companion Paws.
5. Client agrees to complete dog applications for potentially suitable dogs upon being advised by Companion Paws to move forward with an application.
6. Client agrees to follow the policies of the Dog Rescue Organizations. (Can include a phone interview with the rescue to ascertain that the dog of interest is suitable. A home check, pictures or video of your home may be requested).
7. Client understands that we work with rescue dogs and that rescue dogs are not fully trained dogs at time of adoption and will require learning, commitment, dedication and training.
8. Client understands that there are times that even after a thorough temperament assessment and meet and greet and approval of suitability for adoption, rescue dogs may show behaviors soon after adoption that could become unsuitable as your personal therapy dog. A dog can be returned to the rescue within their policies shortly after adoption if the dog becomes an unsuitable fit for you. If this situation arises, the search will begin again one week after the time of returning the dog back to the rescue.
9. Client agrees to attend group obedience training and advanced dog training classes and continue to maintain training after placement of the adopted dog in your home and including after the final evaluation for certification. Ongoing support available.
10. Client understands that after adoption day, the process can take up to 20 weeks or more to complete the training and Companion Paws process for certification. The length of the process from adoption will be dependent on the dedication and commitment of the client.
11. Client agrees to keep the dog for the life of the Companion Paws animal. In any event that you are not able to keep the therapy dog, you agree to inform The LifeLine Canada Foundation. You must not rehome or surrender the dog, even to a family member, without contacting The LifeLine Canada Foundation first.

12. If the dog must be surrendered, Client agrees to surrender the therapy dog to TLC's Companion Paws, if a close family member is not able to care for the dog for its full life.
13. Client agrees to bring their dog to the veterinarian every year from evaluation exam passing date for an updated doctor's medical assessment letter. A copy of the doctor's letter must be mailed or emailed to The LifeLine Canada Foundation for confirmation of health prior to the annual re-assessment.
14. Client agrees to a follow-up call during the first 6 months after adoption and to complete the online follow-up form bi-annually.
15. Client understands that further costs associated with the dog after adoption are the sole responsibility of the Client.
16. Client agrees to an annual renewal fee of $95 and annual re-assessment. (The renewal fee covers the cost of the re-assessment.)
17. Client agrees that all Companion Paws materials including Companion Paws Therapy Dog Vest, Identification Card, and certificate of registration must be returned to The LifeLine Canada Foundation or the Final Evaluation Adjudicator in your area within 30 days of non-renewal.
18. Client understands that there is only one vest and identification card permitted per certified registrant. If another vest is required, you must send the vest with TLC's Companion Paws logo patch to The LifeLine Canada Foundation prior to receiving the new vest.
19. Client agrees that there are no guarantees that the dog will pass the final evaluation. It is up to the client to make available the time required, be very dedicated and committed to learning, perform all training and tasks ongoing for success, throughout the life of the dog.
20. Accessories to be provided by Client include;
 - Leash
 - Collar
 - Licensing/Tags
 - Dog food/chews/treats
 - Food and water bowls
 - Dog Crate
 - Dog Bedding
 - Brush
 - Clippers
 - Dog toys
